MOFFETT'S CORNER

Steven Lafer and Jonathan Marine, Editors

In this special edition of Moffett's Corner, Sheridan Blau, former Professor of Practice in the teaching of English at Teachers College, Columbia University interviews the noted composition theorist Sondra Perl in order to solicit her memories of the late James Moffett and his influence on her thinking, teaching, and writing. As long-standing members of the field who knew and worked with Moffett, as former site directors with the National Writing Project, and as AEPL Advisory Board members who have been involved with the assembly since its inception, Blau and Perl are in a unique position to reminisce about Moffett's legacy through their personal and professional experiences with him. This interview also serves as a forthcoming chapter in the edited collection, The Legacy of James Moffett: His Shaping Influence on Writing Studies, English Education, and the Teaching of English, slated for publication later this year by the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE).
